SYRUP of FIGS

Through to Bar Harbor

The President Enthusiastically Received.

HEARTILY GREETED EN ROUTE.

Large Crowds Assemble at Every Station to Cheer Him on His Way—His Final Arrival at the Blaine College Where He is Resting From the Fatigues of the Journey.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 9.—The special train with President Harrison and party, President Lord, of the Boston and Maine railroad, Lieutenant Governor Brackett and members of the governor's staff, and a corps of newspaper men, pulled out of the Boston and Maine depot at 9 a.m., en route to Bar Harbor. A large crowd witnessed the departure, which was made to the accompaniment of a salute of Battery A and the continued cheers of the crowd.

The first great demonstration after the departure from Boston was made at South Lawrence, where the special stopped. An enormous crowd cheered as the train came to a standstill, and a salute was fired. President Harrison went to the rear of his car and heartily shook the hands of hundreds.

At South Berwick, on the Maine side of the river, the train stopped to take on board Adj't Gen. Sprague, Gen. Harper and Col. Philbrick and Boothby, of the governor's staff, and there was more cheering. Governor Burleigh had intended to meet the train at South Berwick, but was prevented by illness, and Gen. Sprague welcomed the president instead.

At North Berwick Congressman Reed joined the president in greeting the people, and presented to Mr. Harrison some of his constituents, whom the president shook by the hand. At Old Orchard the summer residents and permanent population turned out en masse and gave the president a hearty reception.

The president devoted most of the time between North Berwick and Portland, to chatting with Mr. Reed. The train reached Portland at noon, about fifteen minutes late. There the Boston and Maine officials said good-by and the Maine Central officials took charge. The president was greeted by a great crowd at the depot here. A little child was lifted over the heads of the crowd to pass the president a bouquet, which he received with a bow and a smile. Congressman Reed introduced the president to the crowd, which cheered lustily as the president bowed. The train halted only five minutes.

At Brunswick an immense crowd awaited the arrival of the train and a salute of twenty-one guns was fired. The reception of the president, who was introduced by Mr. Reed, was very enthusiastic. The president, in response to the ovation, bowed and said: "Thank you, gentlemen." A small bouquet was handed to the president, and as the train moved off the crowd gave three cheers for Mr. Reed.

The train made a short stop at Gardiner at 1:40 p.m. The only other stop before reaching Augusta was near the Kennebec arsenal, where a salute was fired from the river bank.

At Augusta an immense crowd was in waiting when the train arrived. It was a typical Maine gathering, and as the train came to a standstill the president was given an old-fashioned Maine cheer. The president walked out upon the platform and was introduced to the assemblage by Mayor Lane. Then the cheering began again, and the president grasped many of the scores of hands which were held out to him. There was a good deal of pulling and hauling, as the crowd was packed closely together, and the president seemed to enjoy it. The stop was for but a few minutes, and the president again entered his car, and the train moved off amid a storm of cheers.

At Augusta, Mr. Reed left the party which was joined by Mayor Lane, Postmaster Manley, Hon. John L. Stephens, minister to the Sandwich islands; National Committeeman J. Manchester Haynes and Maj. O. E. Michaels of the Kennebec arsenal.

On leaving Augusta the president sat down to lunch with Senator Hale. The repast was interrupted by the arrival of the train at Waterville, where there was a large crowd assembled on the green in front of the depot. A salute greeted the president as he left the train for the first time since the departure from Boston. He was escorted by the governor's staff to a platform near by, and was introduced to the people by Mayor Moulder, who said: "It is our glad and pleasant privilege to welcome our beloved president."

The band played a moment and President Harrison spoke as follows: "The preparations which have been made here are more suggestive of a speech than those I have seen at any other place on my route. I came from Washington with a resolute purpose to make no speeches. The purpose of my coming to Maine, as you well know, was to visit your distinguished citizen, my personal friend and cabinet officer, James G. Blaine. [Great cheering.] I beg you will, therefore, allow me simply to thank you for the cordiality with which you have greeted me; to wish you all good, and to bid you good-bye."

Amid cheering the president returned to the train and to his lunch. Afterwards he devoted himself to a chat with Senator Hale.

Both gentlemen went to the rear of the train, when Bangor was reached, about 3:30 p.m., while a salute was being fired. The depot platform was packed with humanity. So great indeed was the crowd that hundreds of the people couldn't get a glimpse of President Harrison till the train moved off again. Congressman Bontelle, Hon. Hamlin Hamlin, Mayor Bragg, ex-Governor Davis and other prominent gentlemen chatted pleasantly with the president for a minute or so.

Mr. Hamlin said: "The arrangements ought to have been so that we could have extended to you the hospitality that is in our hearts."

Congressman Bontelle introduced the president to the multitude, who gave three rousing cheers. The president shook hands with those fortunate enough to reach him, and was again cheered as the train rolled away.

The run from Waterville to Bangor, fifty-five miles, was made in sixty-two minutes. A new engine lavishly decorated, and bearing at its front a framed portrait of the president, was taken on at Bangor.

The train reached Ellsworth on time. Accompanied by Senator Hale the president passed to the rear platform, where he was greeted by a sea of upturned faces. The mayor of the city and Judge Einer, of the supreme court, were personally introduced, and more handshaking was indulged in. Senator Hale took leave of the president at this point.

Save for an occasional cheer as the train dashed through a station or past a field, there was nothing of ordinary until Mt. Desert ferry was reached.

There another crowd was met, and it was a great one, considering the size of the place.

Secretary of State Blaine, who had come over on a special steamer from Bar Harbor, walked along the platform between the people, and stepping into the private car greeted the president. He was followed closely by Congressman Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts. With but a few moments' delay the president and Mr. Blaine, followed by the others of the party, left the cars and walked through the crowd to the steamer Sappho, which was gaily decorated. The Sappho had but few passengers besides the presidential party.

On arriving at the wharf at Bar Harbor a salute was fired by the revenue cutter Woodbury, and the salute was re-echoed from the yachts in the harbor, most of which were prettily decorated. At the same time the crowd on the wharf sent up rousing cheers, and the band played a spirited air. The president and Mr. Blaine walked arm in arm along the wharf to the street, where the carriages were in waiting.

While the livery carriage containing the president and Mr. Blaine was turning a corner, it ran into another carriage and a wheel of the latter vehicle was smashed. Mr. Walker Blaine, Mr. Halford and Mr. Lodge followed in a carriage drawn by Mr. Blaine's horses, and a number of other carriages fell in behind, making quite a procession through Main street, while the piazzas of the hotels were filled with onlookers. Many of the buildings were deserted and at several points along the route cheerers for the visitors were raised. But when the procession turned out of Main street, to proceed to Stanwood, Mr. Blaine's cottage, the streets contained no crowds and few decorations. On reaching the cottage the president and party were welcomed by Mrs. Blaine and quickly made themselves at home.

In the evening the president dined quietly with the Blaine family and rested from the fatigues of the day. Just what he will do to-day is a little uncertain, but it is expected he will take luncheon with Aulick Palmer, dine with Mr. Blaine and in the evening enjoy the hospitalities of the Canal club. A visit to Moosehead lake and a popular reception at Bar Harbor are among the features in prospect.

CUSSSED THEIR MAKER.

A Farmer Struck Dead By Lightning—Another One of the Same Kind.

OTTAWA, O., Aug. 9.—Some time last August a farmer by the name of William Munigan, who resides in Perry township, this county, went out to his farm to plow up a field preparatory to sowing it in wheat, but the land being very dry and hard, and therefore difficult to break up, Munigan cursed the soil and damned away his own eyes and said: "If I ever come here again to plow up this land may God Almighty damn my soul or blast me."

Yesterday morning Munigan went out to the same field and commenced plowing it up. There was not a cloud in the sky, but no sooner had he begun plowing than a small cloud appeared in the sky, and as Munigan had turned a corner of the portion of the land which he had laid off to be plowed he was hit by a bolt of lightning and instantly killed.

Thomas Milligan, a farmer living in Farmer township, while breaking up some ground for seeding, cursed his Maker for over an hour, applying hard and blasphemous oaths to him, but before noon he was rendered speechless by his profanity, and by night he was dead. This is supposed to be a judgment sent on him for his wickedness.

TWO VESSELS IN COLLISION.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Aug. 9.—Schooner King Philip, Cassidy, South Amboy, of and for Eastport, Me., with coal, was run into near Pollock Rip yesterday during a fog by the schooner T. P. Dixon, of New York, lime barge, and was cut through the starboard bow below the water line and lost her gear. She shifted cargo, bearing the leak out of water, and made for this port. At Handkerchief shoal the steamer Wilkesbarre, Boston for New York, took her in tow. At Cross Rip the Philip was towed under and now lies in six and one-half fathoms, six miles east by south of Cross Rip light. The captain and crew were landed here by the Wilkesbarre.

SIXTY-THREE LOSSES IN FARMERS.

MAZEPPA, Minn., Aug. 9.—The heaviest rain storm experienced in many years, accompanied by wind and hail, passed over this place yesterday, blowing down many trees, chimneys and out-buildings. The loss to farmers in small grain will be large.

The Cokers' Strike.

Everything Quiet in the Connellsville Region.

GREAT HOPE FOR THE STRIKERS.

There Are Not More Than Fifteen or Twenty Men Working in the Entire District—Operators Willing to Compromise—Labor Troubles Elsewhere.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 9.—Reports from the Connellsville coke region proclaim everything quiet, and that not more than fifteen or twenty men are working in the entire district. Several small operators, controlling in all about 500 ovens, have conceded the demands of the advance. Their workmen have notified them that they will return to work immediately provided the operators will sign their scale, in which the minimum rate for mining is one cent.

The supply of coke is rapidly diminishing, and will be entirely exhausted in a few days. Jones & Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, have banked one furnace; the Cambria Iron company at Johnstown is running very short; the Scottsdale furnaces are nearly banked, and Wheeling, W. Va., furnaces are reported banking. Pittsburg iron firms having ovens, some of which have been lying idle for years, are now charging them preparatory to making their own coke.

There is a large and sudden demand in pig iron, and prices are advancing rapidly.

The American Manufacturer, the recognized organ of the iron and coke manufacturers, says that the coke strike will be a success; that the workmen would be foolish to allow their wages to remain at the old rates, and that coke manufacturers should not allow the pig iron producers to drive them below the cost of production.

The Coke's Win at Everson.

EVERTON, Pa., Aug. 9.—The coke strike is settled and the men have won. At a conference here yesterday between the operators and men, which lasted six hours and was very lively, the strike was settled on the ninety-five cents per hundred bushel rate. This is an advance of not less than an average of from fifteen to twenty cents in some instances and 50 per cent. in others. A pacific clause has also been put in the scale that no man shall be discharged for participating in the strike. About 11,000 ovens will start at once. This is a great victory for the men, and will be the means of strengthening this organization.

No Prospect of a Settlement.

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 9.—After wrangling all day the coal operators and miners and the arbitration committee failed to reach an agreement. The news of the Streator settlement seemed to stiffen the coal operators and they refused to grant any concessions, while the miners, as stoutly refused to accept the ten cents per ton reduction, but made a proposition to settle on a five cent reduction, which was promptly rejected. One of the miners said: "This means a strike all winter."

A Strike for Better Wages.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 9.—About twenty-five cabinetmakers in William Kleeman's store fixture factory, 498 Richmond street, struck yesterday for better wages. The leader is William Ehl, who has been employed there about two months. Mr. Kleeman says his employees average over $10 a week, which he claims, is better wages than is earned in most factories or the kind.

DISHARING OF MACHINISTS.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 9.—General Manager Odell and Superintendent of Motive Power Crowell, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, visited here this morning and gave orders for the discharge of sixty machinists and carpenters from the shops.

MISTAKEN TO A YACHTING PARTY.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 9.—The yacht Manatee returned here yesterday afternoon, because of a compound fracture of the right thigh sustained by Mr. Fessenden. The party are at the Stockton hotel for a week, and Mr. Fessenden will probably be detained much longer. He is doing well now but no one is allowed to see him. The other members of the party are Senator Quay, W. C. Goodloe, Col. A. L. Conger, Col. Snowden, Senator Fassett, of New York, and Capt. Ben. Sooy.

SIXTY-EIGHT LOSSES IN FARMERS.

MANDAN, Dak., Aug. 9.—The Sioux Indian commission finished their mission among the Indians last night and took their departure for this place where a special car awaited their coming. They were attached to the regular midnight train at Mandan and will run straight through to St. Paul, where they will take the Northwestern line for Chicago, arriving there Friday morning at about 9 o'clock.

AN UNPOPULAR CHAIRMAN.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—In the National Electric Light Association convention yesterday, St. Louis was agreed on as the next place of meeting. A new constitution was adopted, but a ringing of the chair leaves some doubt as to which constitution is at present in force. The convention adjourned sine die. Much ill-feeling was exhibited in the closing hours over the action of the chairman.

Fined for Killing Fish With Dynamite.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9.—John Richards was tried in justice McFadden's court yesterday for using dynamite to kill fish in the Scioto river contrary to the laws of the state, and was fined $100 and sentenced to one hour's imprisonment.

ON THE RACE TRACK.

Belle Hamlin Defeats Harry Wilkes in a Special Trot for $10,000.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The weather yesterday at the driving park was excellent, the track fair, and the crowd the largest ever on the grounds at a circuit meeting, numbering not less than 25,000.

The great event of the day was the contest between Belle Hamlin, owned by C. A. Hamlin, of Buffalo, and Harry Wilkes, owned by the Sire Brothers, of New York, for a special purse of $10,000. It was after 3 o'clock when the great special race was called, and some time later before they got started. The great New York gelding sold $50 to $80 before this heat in the auction pools. Belle Hamlin was the favorite for the heat in the Paris mutuals.

The general impression was that Belle would win a heat anyway. Nobody thought that Wilkes would have a walkaway, but the knowing ones expected him to win the race in two of the three heats to be trotted. Sire Brothers backed the gelding heavily, but, so far as known, Mr. Hamlin bet but little. The result was a surprise to many.

The two horses started even on the second scoring, and Bell was never far enough ahead to let the sky show between them. Time—0:34, 1:07, 1:40, 2:13. In the second heat they went neck-and-neck to the half in 1:07, when Belle took the lead. On the home-stretch Wilkes quit, and the last half was trotted in 1:10. Belle won, hands down.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTIONS.

The Deadlock Ended at Helena—Proceedings of the Other Meetings.

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 9.—The deadlock in the constitutional convention over the question of location of the capital, was continued yesterday without change. The opposition to Helena is formidable, and in fact the cities which are at rivalry among themselves, all agree on the watch word, "Anything but Helena."

Bozeman was ahead in the morning, but in the afternoon she was defeated, and Missoula substituted, by a vote of 34 to 32. Then Anaconda was substituted for Missoula, 36 to 30. A motion to strike out the clause locating the capital was then carried. This leaves the capital at Helena for the present.

At Olympia, Wash.

Olympia, Wash., Aug. 9.—The constitutional convention adopted the report of the committee on public buildings. It provides that the question of locating the capital shall be submitted to the people. In the meantime the capital is to remain at Olympia. The question of woman suffrage at school elections was left for the legislature to pass upon until the November election in 1890, when it shall be submitted to the people. The convention spent the afternoon in discussing the legislative article and passed upon the most of it.

Almost Completed.

BISMARCK, Dak., Aug. 9.—The constitutional convention adopted the report of the committee on legislative apportionment. The school lands section was also adopted. The committee on revision and adjustment will report next Tuesday when it is expected the constitution in its entirety will be adopted.

A SHORT ADJOURNMENT.

BISMARCK, N. Dak., Aug. 9.—The constitutional convention adjourned last night until Tuesday, when the delegates will sign the constitution.

NO DEFENDER THERE.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 9.—The picture of the man arrested at Scottsboro, Ala., and thought to be ex-Treasurer Tate, was received by Governor Buckner yesterday. The photograph bears no resemblance whatever to Mr. Tate, but is a very striking likeness of Dave Willer, of Louisville. No application has yet been made to the governor for extradition of Tate. The correspondent of The Birmingham Age-Herald, who formerly lived in Frankfort and who went to Scottsboro to identify the prisoner, published a daily paper here in 1889. He has not been in Frankfort nor has he seen Tate for eight years.

Still Fighting at Port-aux-Fraine.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The steamer George W. Clyde, from Hayti, reports that the attack on Port-aux-Fraine was still in progress Aug. 2. It was reported, however, that Hippolyte had landed a force on the opposite side of the island and was about to attack the city from the rear, in which case he would have a decided advantage.

The editor of the Bracken Chronicle talks as though he know something about it. He says: "If tobacco growers want to grow big leafy tobacco and the quality in demand this year and a good quality in demand every year, observe three material points. Plow often, top at about fourteen leaves and let your tobacco thoroughly ripen before cutting. The non-observance of these three material points, or any one of them, will affect the price of your tobacco when you haul to market."

Shelby County is now ahead in the yield of wheat per acre this year. The Shelby News says: "There is no telling what Shelby County land is capable of producing, if properly cultivated. In threshing his wheat, last week, James V. Goodman secured a yield of 60 bushels to the acre from the first two acres and a half. After running the wheat through the cleaner he still had a yield of 58 bushels of clean wheat to the acre."

If we mistake not, Mr. Goodman is a native of Mason County. The Shelby land may have produced that much wheat, but a Mason Countian had to handle the crop.

THE ENTRIES.

The Finest Fields of Horses Ever Booked by any Fair in the World.

Complete List of Racers to Compete For Stakes and Purse at Coming Meeting.

Of course you'll not miss the "Blue Ribbon Fair." Everybody's goin'—that is nearly everybody—and you can't afford to stay away. You'll miss the biggest meeting ever held on the grounds if you do. Maysville, you know, never does anything by halves. Fact, and the coming fair will not prove an exception. It promises to "get away" with all previous meetings. Why? Principally because it is being more widely advertised and offers finer attractions. The directors know a thing or two, and realize that a liberal use of printer's ink pays. The papers throughout the surrounding country, along the two railroads, far and near, are talking of Maysville's fair, and immense crowds can be looked for. A week of sport and pleasure is assured. Remember the dates, August 21, 22, 23 and 24. Some of the finest trotters and pacers in the country will compete for the stakes and purses. The list is larger than ever before. The entries for the purse races closed August 5th. The company presents the best fields of horses ever entered at any fair in the world. Read them:

The Matter Brought to the Attention of the Treasury Department—Precautions Against the Introduction of Contagious Diseases From Foreign Vessel—Appointments—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Surgeon General Hamilton has received a letter from Sewall Cobb, ex-mayor of Pensacola, Fla., in which he states that a great deal of smuggling is carried on on the coast of that state and makes some suggestion for the suppression of the nefarious business. The smuggling is so extensive, says Mr. Cobb, that that every hour in the day persons engaged in it could be caught if an effort was only made to do so.

The United States custom officer who is expected to suppress it, Mr. Cobb says, has but one "tub" for 600 miles of coast, and she is of such draught as to be compelled to keep out of gunshot distance of nine out of ten of the localities frequented by the smugglers. The smugglers have become so bold that when they see the smoke of a steamer they simply fish until the danger is past.

In conclusion Mr. Cobb says: "In this matter the state board of health has been as useless as last year's almanac, and if they have done nothing in five months how long will it take them to begin to formulate a plan? Cannot you take this Spanish bull by the horns under your own power? A small sailing vessel armed with ten men and proper determination will, in thirty days, knock the danger clear across the gulf stream in the direction of Cuba."

Dr. Hamilton referred the letter to the treasury department.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Charles T. Both plans have been referred to a committee of experts in the bureau who will report in favor of one or the other within a few weeks.

Dr. Hamilton has sent the letter to the treasury department with his approval.
